Bibliography

Contents

By Montessori ........................................................................................................ 2

About Montessori .................................................................................................. 4

Articles ................................................................................................................... 4

Other Resources for Reflection ............................................................................ 4
Bibliography

By Montessori

The 1946 London Lectures
- Lecture 30, “Normalization”
- Lecture 31, “The Converted Children”
- Lecture 33, “A Society by Cohesion”

The Absorbent Mind
- Chapter I, “The Child’s Part in World Reconstruction”
- Chapter XVI, “From Unconscious Creator to Conscious Worker”
- Chapter XVIII, “Character and Its Defects in Childhood”
- Chapter XIX, “The Child’s Contribution to Society—Normalization”
- Chapter XX, “Character Building Is the Child’s Own Achievement”
- Chapter XXII, “Social Development”
- Chapter XXIII, “Cohesion in the Social Unit”
- Chapter XV, “The Three Levels of Obedience”
- Chapter XVI, “Discipline and the Teacher”
- Chapter XXVII, “The Teacher’s Preparation”

The Advanced Montessori Method, Volume 1 (Spontaneous Activity in Education)
- Chapter III, “My Contribution to Experimental Science”
- Chapter IV, “The Preparation of the Teacher”
- Chapter V, “Environment”
- Chapter VI, “Attention”
- Chapter VII, “Will”
- Chapter VIII, “Intelligence”

Basic Ideas of Montessori Educational Theory
- Chapter II, “The Discovery of the Spirit (The Polarization of Attention)”
- Chapter III, “Keys to the World”
The Child in the Family
Chapter VII, “The Character of the Child”
Chapter X, “The New Teacher”

The Child, Society and the World
Chapter I, “To Parents”
Chapter II, “To Teachers”

Creative Development in the Child, Vol. 1
Chapter XXVI, “Self Construction: The Child’s Task”
Chapter XXVIII, “Obedience and Discipline”
Chapter XXIX, “Towards Normalization”

The Discovery of the Child
Chapter II, “The History of Methods”
Chapter XI, “The Technique of the Lessons”
Chapter XXIV, “Conclusions and Impressions”

Education for a New World
Chapter XII, “The Bugbear of Discipline”
Chapter XIII, “What a Montessori Teacher Needs to Be”

The Formation of Man
Part II: Chapter 2, “Prejudices Regarding the Child in Science and Education”

Reconstruction in Education, AMI booklet
Entire book

The Secret of Childhood
Part III Chapter I, “Homo Laborans”

What You Should Know About Your Child
Chapter XX, “Work and Discipline”
About Montessori

Chapter II, “Discovery”
Chapter XIV, “Movement and Mental Assimilation”
Chapter XVII, “Liberty in Education—True and False”

Articles

Other Resources for Reflection

